SHEPHERD BAIL FIGHT ON AGAIN IN COURT TODAY

New Move Is Illegal, State Holds.

(Picture on back page.) Another attempt is to be made today to liberate William D. Shepherd from the county jail on bonds. Application will be made to Judge William J. Hoffman by the firm of Messrs. Jacobson, who are the attorneys for Shepherd. The firm of Messrs. Jacobson is the same firm that was successful in securing the release of Shepherd from the county jail on the "million dollar typewriter" charge concerning the death of William McKinley.

Shepherd's exacting of yesterday was a denial of a motion asking him to reconsider his former decision denying Shepherd the right to bail. State's Attorney Robert E. Quinn and Attorney William Scott, counsel for Shepherd, engaged in a heated debate over this motion and upon the state's rejecting the motion, the attorney moved to the Supreme Court.

William D. Shepherd, who is charged with the murder of President McKinley, is being held in the county jail. His attorneys are fighting to get him out on bail. The state is opposing this effort, claiming that the motion is illegal.

The state's position is that the motion is illegal because it is an attempt to circumvent the law. The state is claiming that the motion is an attempt to get Shepherd out of the county jail without paying the required bond.

INFLATION HITS HERRIOT RULE; MINISTER OUT

Senate Fights New Paper Coin Plan.

BULLETIN. (Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times.) PARIS, April 3.—French cabinet meeting set from 10 o'clock last night till 4:30 this morning, when it announced that Senator de Monzie had accepted the post of finance minister given up by M. Clementel. De Monzie has been a prominent force in conducting negotiations with Moscow. He is an opponent of the government's Vatican policy.

Anatole de Monzie, a French public life in 1903 as an undersecretary in the ministry of public work, public instruction and justice. He was defeated for the senate in 1919, but was elected in 1924. Last year he headed the commission which negotiated the treaty recognizing Russia.

BY HENRY WALES. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.) PARIS, April 3, 2:30 a. m.—Etienne Clementel, minister of finance, resigned last night, following an uproar precipitated in the senate by his proposal to add 6,000,000,000 paper francs to the money circulation of the country. His resignation was accepted. At 2 o'clock this morning Premier Herriot's cabinet was still in session discussing the crisis.

M. Clementel at the afternoon session of the senate explained the serious financial condition of the country and announced the government's intention of issuing 6,000,000,000 paper francs to meet a serious shortage in paper currency.

He attempted to show that the issue was not inflation, pointing out that it was merely for business use, that it was guaranteed by commercial paper, and that it did not affect the gold guarantee behind the present paper. At this point the senate was thrown into an uproar, and cries of "Resign!" came from the opposition benches.

Herriot Falls to Stay Anger. Premier Herriot, appearing tired and careworn, stepped into the breach and attempted to reassure the opposition by declaring the government is opposed to inflation for "services of state" and seeks only to aid business. He hinted at a proposed levy on capital and at the same time mentioned payments coming to France under the Dawes plan, but the opposition senators refused to be appeased and interrupted him with cries of "Resign."

M. Herriot then called the cabinet meeting. The first intimation that M. Clementel was resigning came when it was noticed that he was not present. He is declared to have resigned before the senate.

Before M. Clementel made his speech this afternoon the opposition senators bitterly assailed M. Herriot's financial policies. Senator Jossé stated that French credit in Germany was being wrecked by the promise to evict the Ruhr, while French claims in Russia totaling $2,000,000,000 gold marks ($3,000,000,000) were compromised by the recognition of the bolshevik government.

Senes Germany Debt of Europe. M. Jossé expressed regret that the Dawes plan had failed to solve the question of international debts, which elicited comment from M. Mandoux that "the execution of the Dawes plan has permitted the supercapitalists to return to Germany, but British industries will suffer. Germany is becoming the mistress of Europe." If Great Britain permits the history of Rome and Carthage will be repeated and she will be Carthage.

M. Clementel, while granting the Dawes plan for ending the disagreement over reparations, mentioned that as France for two years would only touch deliveries in kind the measure would not be of great financial assistance.

"Only after five years," he said, "will reparations payments be important. Since September we have exhausted half of our credit and we will finish all within the year."

Says France Will Pay U. S. M. Clementel declared that France intends to pay its debts to the United States.

"America knows that we will pay," he asserted. "We have assumed both the honor and the duty of doing so. In our discussions with them we have found that the old fraternity of arms has not been forgotten and we are on the way to a satisfactory settlement."

He then stressed the need of capital for industry and suggested that commercial banks should be encouraged to lend.

PERSPIRING AND SHIVERING

ROCKEFELLER PRAISES FOWLER M'CORMICK FOR GOING TO WORK

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—John D. Rockefeller, grandfather of John D. Rockefeller, who is leaving the harvester business at the International Harvester company plant here where he is doing manual labor, in a letter to his grandson today declared he is "very pleased with the manner in which you have chosen to learn the harvester business."

The letter read: "My dear Grandson—'I am very much pleased in the manner in which you have chosen to learn the harvester business by starting at the bottom. By doing this, you gain the knowledge first hand that will greatly help you in later years. I extend my most hearty approval to your efforts.'

"Your grandfather, 'JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.' McCormick said today that his duty was to follow the story of his work given publicity, containing any number of letters from him who describe themselves as 'young, pretty, and hopped.' I need a secretary with a heart like a Florida whipping boy," he declared.

Weird Death Case Baffles Scotland Yard

LONDON, April 2.—[By United News.]—The tale of a madman who sought to lure girls to an alleyway house, cluttered with poison and human bones, is hidden in the halfacre enclosure in King's Cross, behind whose walls strange occurrences have culminated in the death of Graviss Cooke, 50, and Selwyn Foster, 21, of wealthy people.

Cooke, the madman, was owner of the house. His body and Foster's were discovered by neighbors, with two leaden coffins in an adjoining room. Twenty-four hours of search by Scotland Yard detectives have failed to discover the weird story that seems to be behind the death of Cooke and Foster. Scotland Yard pathologists have turned up the half acre of weed grown yard, which formerly was a cemetery, and penetrated the walls of a shack there and of the large disused house.

Find Poison Phials. In the garden they found bottles beneath awny gravestones. In the house, which was an old medical school, they found a pile of skulls. In another room was a complete skeleton in a pot full of quinine. Heaps of bones were scattered indiscriminately, and there were long shelves bearing bottles of poison.

More interesting than the cause of the two deaths is the round of degenerate dissipation indulged in by Cooke and his friends. Scotland Yard wants to know whether Cooke led an eccentric life among the relics of the old medical school, or whether some of the bones may be those of victims.

A Jekyll and Hyde. There is no doubt that Cooke was a lunatic. The detectives paused occasionally in their search of the premises to question men and veiled women who were admitted through the cordon of police which has guarded the place since the bodies were found.

These people told stories of Cooke's Jekyll and Hyde existence. Cooke was a brilliant inventor and a masochist poet. He was situated at the University of Bonn. Some knew him in this light and others pictured him as a degenerate rake, a shameless forger, and a procurer of women.

In his efforts to entice women to his shabby house Cooke pretended to conduct a school of stenography there, and many girls are believed to have been lured by this bait.

Whether any women succumbed to his vicious habits and suffered the ignominy of having their bones strewn among the whitened relics of the medical school is the problem before Scotland Yard.

WOLINSKY & CO., OATS AND HAY, SUFFER SLUMP

It being a bright and cross-like afternoon of yesterday, Messrs. Wolinsky, aged 76 years and adopted by a patriarchal board, accompanied by a partner, Patrick Kurner, aged 46, sat upon the driver's seat of a one-horse cart which bore a burden of hay and oats, commodities in which Messrs. Wolinsky and Kurner are dealers.

Mr. Kurner laid a lustrous crack of the whip against the horse's haunches and cried "Giddyup!" Mr. Wolinsky, inspired by the speed and the ardent spirits which he and Mr. Kurner had imbibed, let go a giggle of mirth. Down Halsted street flew the ancient cart with its bounding hay and corn. Mr. Wolinsky's beard split by the breeze and fluttering over his shoulders.

Pedestrians and policemen paused to stare at the spectacle. They were repaid. At Newberry avenue the cart struck an obstacle and Messrs. Wolinsky and Kurner were projected out of their seats as a whistle astride the amased horse. A policeman said "What!" and the horse stopped, rearing. Messrs. Wolinsky and Kurner skidded off the rear, whiskers foremost. By this time the crowd was in the hundreds.

"Get up," said a policeman. "Make the horse take his foot off my whiskers," said Mr. Wolinsky. The foot was moved. Wolinsky & Co. laughed boisterously.

"You should be ashamed," said the cop, "at your age."

"You should live so long," said Mr. Wolinsky, with a droll, owlish wink, "and have fun like me."

"We'll look you up," said the policeman, starting for the Maxwell street station.

"We should worry," said Messrs. Wolinsky and Kurner.

Farrar Rum 'Coup' Bagged Only a Pint?

(Picture on back page.) Pennington, Vt., April 2.—[Special.]—Geraldine Farrar sang her concert program tonight amid the fumes of a liquor mystery.

The engine concerns the potency of certain liquors seized last night in her private car as it crossed the Canadian border into the United States at Rouses Point. The diva's manager insists that the stock was not more potent than near-beer. Customs men contend it was actually champagne and "hard" liquors, forty bottles in all.

The secondary phase of the great mystery has to do with whether Geraldine, the erstwhile pet of the Metropolitan opera, must go to court and stand trial as a rum runner and smuggler. On this point Geraldine refused to be interviewed by anybody. The customs men also are silent except to say that the matter of prosecution rests with the "higher ups."

Geraldine Not Disturbed. The only undisputed point is that the train hauling Geraldine's private car from Montreal into Vermont was delayed at the border thirty minutes last night while American customs agents searched every nook and cranny. Miss Farrar was in her comfortable bed during the search and was not personally disturbed. Neither was the searchlight turned into her compartment.

Yet when the customs men dropped off the train they say they carried forty full bottles of champagne, whisky, beer, and what any drinking gentleman of lady might want to bring back from Canada into the dry, green hills of this commonwealth.

When Miss Farrar's car was wheeled on the sliding here this afternoon the diva was locked in her apartment. She refused to see any prying reporters and announced she would have nothing to say about Mr. Volstead or anybody else.

Found Only One Pint. Her manager, Jack Savage, undertook to do all the talking for her. According to his story the amount of liquor seized upon Miss Farrar's car would scarcely fill a tumbler. In fact, according to Mr. Savage, the government's group of liquor sleuths fell upon only a single pint of liquor. And that was in the handbag of one of the male members of Miss Farrar's troupe, and Miss Farrar had nothing whatever—nothing whatever—to do with it.

"Any one would be foolish to attempt to smuggle champagne in hand, wouldn't one?" said Mr. Savage. He was informed that dispatches from Rutland quoted him as saying the bottles taken from Miss Farrar's car contained only near beer and he was asked how he reconciled these two statements.

"As Mr. Duell would say, this is my one and only official interview," was his reply.

Subliminal Question Involved. It was reported from Ogdenburg tonight that the collector of customs intended to leave disposition of the case to Rouses Point authorities. The latter are said to be still debating the proper procedure in the case.

But for the peace of mind of Miss Farrar and her manager, the case would be closed. It is not clear that the usual procedure in cases where some gentleman (or lady) is caught smuggling in a small quantity of alcoholic goods for purely personal consumption is simply to seal the contraband and let it go that.

Where there is no element of commercialism or wholesale bootlegging no arrests are made at Rouses Point unless the carrier refuses to surrender the wet goods.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

In all three polls taken yesterday the transportation ordinance won. The margin in its favor was small, but it showed in each canvass.

This is the first time any hint could be extracted from the straw vote. It is the first time that any three consecutive polls, in eleven taken by The Tribune, that any one trend has been shown. Indeed, in no election in which The Tribune has taken a poll in recent years have the voters been so deliberate or tardy in deciding how they intended to vote.

Difference Exceedingly Small. In yesterday's paper, 15,738 straw votes were accounted for. Today, 11,774 more are presented. That brings the total to 29,512; and in that number the difference between the proponents and opponents is only 133 votes. This is the margin in favor of the ordinance. That is not a very substantial indication of the trend of public opinion when it is remembered that 16,615 straw votes are involved. On less than one half of the total number in each state it was possible last fall to indicate the general election result in Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Illinois. But the approaching referendum on the transit ordinance is entirely different.

Public Cold on M. O. While the slight hint yesterday favored the ordinance on ownership, The Tribune has taken no poll on municipal operation under the board of control which was favorable. The trend on that subject is reasonably clear; the public does not now desire pure municipal operation. It is also evident from the straw vote operation that the people generally do not understand the method by which the surface and elevated lines will be operated. Unless the voters are made to understand and believe that the Dever plan takes every precaution possible to reduce the control from politics—as the advocates of the ordinance contend—there will probably be an adverse vote on operation.

Politicians Doing Little. The poll to date indicates also that certain substantial political friends of Mayor Dever have not been tearing their shirts to spread the merits of the ordinance. The little they have done on the north side and the less on the west side has not registered in the straw vote collected.

In the poll yesterday a canvass was made of a dozen loop corners, eight corners on the west side, and eight on the north side. The results of

HOW TRACTION WOULD AID 10TH WARD EXPLAINED

Mayor Carries Transit Plea to S. Chicago.

NOTE "YES" TWICE

Those who are in favor of the proposed traction ordinance must vote "yes" on both propositions on the ballot. It is not sufficient to vote for one of the lines on the certificate. Detail of the second proposition, which calls for operation by a public board of control, makes the vote plus imperative.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Mayor Dever carried his traction ordinance to South Chicago last night, after the direct benefits that will accrue to the Tenth ward if the ordinance is adopted next Tuesday.

Extension of the elevated lines in other directions, as far south as 123rd street, extension of the surface lines on 12th street, and additional tracks on four streets will cause the vacant premises in what is called "No man's land" to bloom with homes, reconstruct living conditions clear to the edge of the city, and bring the remote district fifteen minutes nearer to the loop, as was pointed out.

What It Would Do.

"Speaking with as great sincerity as I ever spoke in my life," he said at the close of his address in Calumet hall. "If this plan is adopted by the people and approved by the Supreme court, it will mark the beginning of an era that will make Chicago the greatest city this world has ever seen."

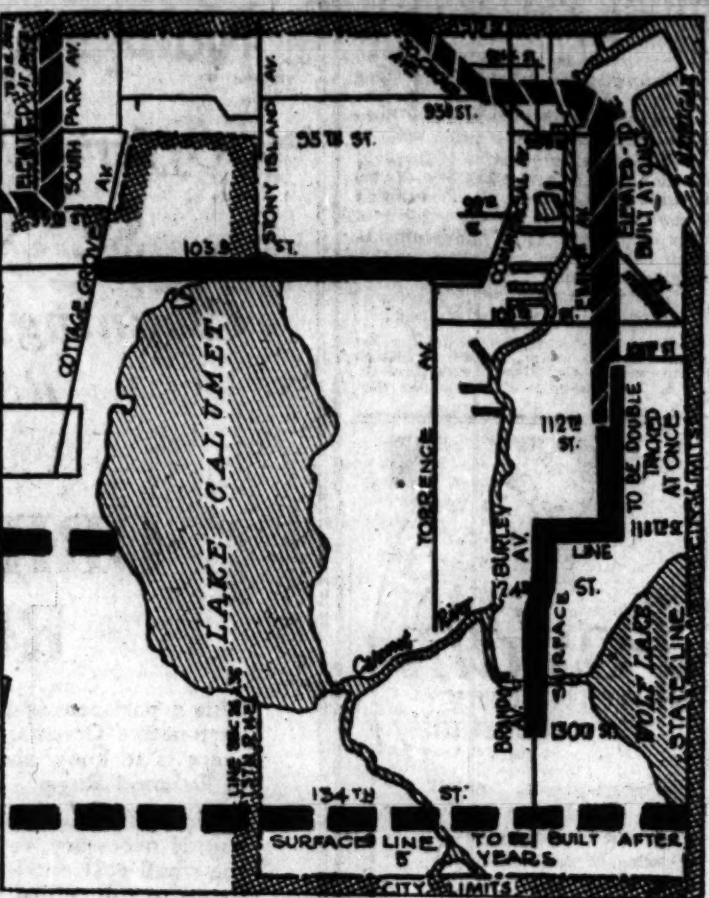

Political conditions in this ward, where Ald. Ernest Cross has been against the ordinance, although he voted for it in council, make an uphill fight for the mayor's plan; but he overcame this, appealing to his listeners to consider the traction proposition as a straight business opportunity, a bargain which might never come to them again, a chance to divorce transportation from politics, a development which would increase the value of every foot of property in the ward.

Wait for What?

"If this plan does not mean an increased valuation for your property and for all property in such outlying areas, and cheaper, more common street service, it is not a good ordinance," he said.

"It will not be inveigled into a political debate on this matter. It comes with hard grace from a man on whom the city has a right to wait. Wait until they can get their political organizations to put them into line again, and then maybe they can offer us something better, although I do not know now what it is. But the very thing that has retarded Chicago's growth. The comprehensive survey is an impossible dream. The cent fare talk is bunk. We have something here that we can grasp hold of, something that means immediate reduction in fares, immediate beginning of improvement.

The specific improvements provided for this ward in the proposed ordinance are as follows:

Extensions in elevated lines:
80th Chicago avenue—89th street to 93d street.
93d street—South Chicago avenue to Ewing avenue.
Ewing avenue—93d street to 112th street.
South Park avenue—89th street to 99th street.
Extensions in surface lines:
134th street—East line sections 25 and 26 to state line.
1624 street—Stony Island avenue to Commercial avenue.
Additional track will be laid on Brandon avenue from 124th street to 130th street, on Burley avenue, on 118th street to 124th street, on Ewing avenue from 108th to 118th street, and on 184th street from Stony Island avenue to Commercial avenue.

Tolman Indorses Plan.
Maj. Edgar B. Tolman, for several years corporation counsel under Carter H. Harrison, yesterday came out in support of the traction plan. William H. Sexton, also corporation counsel under Harrison, is campaigning for the ordinance.

Maj. Tolman made this statement: "I have examined the ordinance providing for a comprehensive municipal transportation system, passed by the city council of the city of Chicago Feb. 27, 1925, and it is my opinion that under the constitution and the laws of the state of Illinois the city of Chicago

CITY'S KILLINGS SET NEW MARK FOR 3 MONTHS

Forty-eight Murders on Police Records.

Killings in Chicago during the first three months of 1925 set a new record for the city, police reports show. In March there were more murders than in any month in the city's history, with the exception of the month of the 1919 race riots, according to the same records.

During the first quarter of this year there were forty-eight murders, thirty-two cases of manslaughter and twenty-eight "justifiable and excusable homicides," says the figures, obtained yesterday from Sgt. Thomas E. Fitzgerald, head of the police record department. And these figures do not include the 155 persons killed in motor accidents.

A table showing the killings in the first three months of previous years follows:

Year	Murders	Manslaughter	Justifiable	Total
1917	47	30	10	87
1918	48	31	11	90
1919	118	19	10	147
1920	40	14	10	64
1921	30	18	20	68
1922	37	19	28	84
1923	34	24	18	76
1924	36	24	18	78
1925	48	32	28	108

Police Make Classification.
George Shuman, senior clerk of the department, dug through the card index of his record for nine years. Classification of killings is made by the police department, the premeditated slayings being classed as "murders" and the unintentional killings as "manslaughter." The classification is borne out by juries in 90 per cent of the cases, the record keepers say. The "justifiable" classification is based on coroner's jury verdicts.

Albanian Rebels Blow Up Custom House in Scutari
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] VIENNA, Austria, April 3.—[UPI.]—Albanian revolutionists, who attempted to seize Scutari late last night, succeeded in blowing up the custom house, causing several deaths, according to dispatches from Transilvania. Military police arrested several suspects. A court-martial found two guilty and they were immediately hanged.

WOMAN DIES OF HEART DISEASE.
Mrs. Ida Blush, 40 years old, 6500 North Clark street, died at St. Luke's hospital yesterday, supposedly of heart disease. She went to the hospital several days ago for treatment, and early in the morning suffered an attack from which she failed to rally.

PERIL IN WOMAN SUFFRAGE! MAN TO WIN ON LOOKS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, April 2.—Unbowed white-ers today rose in the French senate to protest vehemently against the feminist movement in France, which if successful will "mark an end to marriage, family, and home."

Deputy Maupou, a wine grower of the Loire, launched the anti-feminist attack with the gallant announcement that "a woman's hand is better made for knives than votes" and he pictured political disaster in France when "women, outnumbering men, put good looking boys in office."

Deputy Flandin was wildly cheered when he said: "It is insufficient to sing a hymn about family. If the family is not holding together today it is because the salaries of the men are inadequate to support wives who are obliged to help. Women's equality with man has been established by economic evolution and a refusal to recognize the fact is an anachronism."

CUPID CLUB GIRL FLED WITH CASH, FIANCE CHARGES

Tony Weed, 2902 Wentworth avenue, who sought romance in a matrimony club, complained to the police last night that his fiancée had vanished with $800 which he had given her to buy a trousseau.

Tony got the name of Miss Rose Tierce of Indianapolis from a New York matrimony club after he had paid $4. She came to Chicago and they became engaged. Miss Tierce borrowed all the money Tony had and vanished, he said.

Police telegraphed to Indianapolis, where Miss Tierce was found. Policewoman Lela Hurt will leave today to bring her back to Chicago on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

ASKS DIVORCE OF STANLEY GRAHAM BIG GAME HUNTER

Brave as a huntman, cruel as a husband—that is Stanley K. Graham, big game hunter, as described yesterday in a divorce suit begun in Superior court by Mrs. Laura Bell Graham, 520 Belmont avenue, herself an accomplished hunter and one time steadfast companion of her husband on trips into venturesome wilds.

Graham's exploits in Mexico and the untrodden wild southwest include the capture of a nearly grown lion with naught but his strong arms. Again, he followed a huge jaguar into its lair in deep darkness and shot it to death.

Charges Cruel Treatment.
As to his matrimonial behavior—well, Mrs. Graham in her plea for freedom declared he once struck her in the jaw, dislocating it, that he fell her to the floor, and that he threw her against a mantle.

The Grahams have been married since 1910 and have had no children. When he is not seeking big game and big thrills, Graham is an interior decorator, and at that avocation he has made considerable wealth, Mrs. Graham says.

They were vacationing in the winter of 1922 in Los Angeles when the first real break in their marital felicity came about, the bill relates. Without cause, Graham struck his wife to the floor, dislocating her jaw with the blow, it is alleged.

Leaves Home with Vow.
Several days ago the final separation came, according to the bill, which declares that Graham became enraged, threw his wife against a mantle, and dashed from his home, vowing he never would return. And he never did, the bill adds.

A member of the Adventurers' club, Graham often, on his return from Mexican trips, has regaled the boys there with tales of his bags.

BANDIT DE LUXE ON STAND TELLS CRIME CAREER

Denies Slaying Policeman
—Admits 4 Convictions

Hartford, Conn., April 2.—[Special.]—Gerald Chapman, said to be the most successful and desperate of modern bandits, fought for his life on the witness stand in the Superior court here today.

Calmly, dispassionately, and in soft spoken tones he denied that he had shot Policeman James J. Skelly to death in New Britain last autumn or that he had ever been in that city.

About 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, Oct. 11, the day before the murder, he said that he went to the railroad station in Springfield and took a train to New York, intending to remain there Tuesday.

He admitted that burglar's tools found in the automobile he had driven belonged to himself and to George (Dutch) Anderson, known to his confederate, Walter E. Shean, as "Dr. Johnson."

Explains Nitroglycerin.

The nitroglycerin discovered by the police in two bottles in the car was behind the front seat of the motor car was what remained of a quantity of "soup" he had sent to Springfield for the use of Shean and his "mob," Chapman declared. The automobile, itself, had been purchased by Anderson, Chapman said, although he confessed that it was known by him to have been stolen.

He said Shean had used the car without his knowledge and that it might be termed the "common property" of himself, Anderson, and two ex-convicts and fugitives from justice he identified only as "Tripp" and "Bully." These two men were in the employ of himself and Anderson, he asserted, and all four had keys to the ignition switch.

Chapman explained his ownership of the two saved off shotguns and rifle, which were found packed inside the trunk on the rear of the touring car, by saying they were intended for use in protecting truck loads of liquor shipped by the bootlegging syndicate in which he and Anderson each owned a twelfth interest.

Needed Guns for Protection.

The liquor was shipped up from Bermuda by schooners, he said, and landed either at Savannah or Baltimore. It was run ashore and distributed by motor truck. Frequently, Chapman told the jury, the contraband was stolen by hi-jackers just outside the city limits. He said the business was illegal, and that the hi-jackers had no recourse to the courts in the event of theft. The weapons were for protection against such depredations—not for any acts of aggression, he protested.

Later, Chapman said, Bermuda "blew up" as a paradise for bootleggers, because of the high taxes levied on whisky, and most of the rum merchants transferred their activities to New York, New England, or the vicinity of Detroit.

MUSSOLINI ASKS ITALY TO KEEP UP ARMY; SEES WAR

ROME, April 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—The age old adage, "In time of peace prepare for war," was the gist of a stirring speech delivered in the senate today by Premier Mussolini in the course of discussion of the question of the reorganization of the Italian army, on which a vote was finally postponed.

Sig. Mussolini expressed the belief that there were more wars to come, and he asked the senators if they really thought that the great war, which drenched Europe in blood for four years, was the last one. The response was "No!"

Special editions of the Rome newspapers announced the resignation of Gen. di Giorgio, the war minister. The Tribune considers the resignation definite because discussion of the war budget in the chamber tomorrow has been entrusted to Prof. de Stefani, the finance minister, instead of Gen. di Giorgio. The Tribune adds that Gen. Count Pettiti di Roret is mentioned as his successor.

street, New York City, Chapman said that he and Anderson decided that New York was not "exactly safe" for them. They accordingly decided to make arrangements to receive liquor shipments in Boston.

Bought Rum Headquarters.

They went to Springfield to establish the enterprise, according to Chapman, and the house he purchased in South Hadley Center, Mass., was to be used as bootlegging headquarters. That was why he wanted it in easy distance of Boston and secluded as to neighborhood, he said.

It was 10:50 o'clock when Chapman began his story and an hour and forty minutes later he had finished. Twice he finished and then, remembering some further matter, he whispered to F. J. Groehl, his counsel, and returned to the stand. Several times he took the bit in his teeth. Questions were asked him by State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, to which Mr. Groehl raised vigorous objections, but Chapman waived him to acquiesce.

"I can answer him!" he said.

Produces Fur Coats.

And then he would enter into a low voiced explanation of some point concerning which Prosecutor Alcorn sought enlightenment. The most striking instance of this was when four traveling bags found by the police in Shean's storeroom in Springfield were brought into the courtroom and opened. Mr. Alcorn reached down and drew forth two women fur coats—one of grey squirrel and the other dyed mink.

"This has nothing to do with the issues in this case, your honor," Mr. Groehl protested, but Chapman insisted that Mr. Alcorn be permitted to proceed.

"Well, you're on trial for your life. Go ahead if you want to," said Mr. Groehl, with the air of one who is dealing with a willful and perverse child.

Says Shean Slept Coats.

Mr. Alcorn had insinuated the coats were a part of the loot of a robbery committed by Chapman at Elmira in August, but the defendant declared that the coats had been stolen from Shean and his "mob" and placed in the storeroom.

"They didn't dare dispose of them here home, and asked Anderson and myself if there wasn't a 'fence' somewhere in the west we could put them in touch with," Chapman said, looking straight into Alcorn's eyes. "I don't wish to go into the case at all. It has nothing to do with this charge of murder."

Groehl then took the witness again and brought a slight smile from him by asking if he had ever before been charged with murder.

"Only in the newspapers," "It was a pastime, I think, for the papers to accuse me of a murder every few days."

He went on to explain that he fired a shot at a Muncie policeman at the time of his arrest because he thought him a hold-up man.

"He poked a gun under my heart without saying anything. I fired to save $4,700 I had on my person."

$200,000 Drive April 27

to Hit Commercial Crime

Commercial crime is to be fought with money. A campaign to raise $200,000 will be begun April 27 by organized workers. Chicago's quota is $200,000, which will be used to investigate and prosecute commercial crooks. Each industry in the city will be asked to contribute to the fund, according to James M. Hudson, president of the Chicago Association of Credit Men, who is in charge.

On Witness Stand.

When Chapman took the stand he testified as follows:

Q.—Did you go to New Britain on Oct. 11 or 12 of 1924? A.—No, I never have been in New Britain, except if I was on the road between New York and Hartford I might have driven there on the main road, but as to knowing positively that I was ever in New Britain, or ever having heard of the name, really, I say no, I have never been there.

Q.—So that you were not in the Davidson & Leventhal store at 8 or 7 o'clock on Sunday morning? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You have been previously convicted of crime? A.—Yes, four times.

Q.—You served time in jail for that? A.—Yes.

Q.—And your last imprisonment was at Atlanta, was it not? A.—Atlanta, yes.

Q.—And since the time you met Walter Shean in Springfield, did you meet some of his associates and friends? A.—O, yes, many of them.

Prosecutor Questions Him.

Mr. Alcorn then cross-examined Chapman.

Q.—You say you have been four times convicted of crime? A.—Yes.

Q.—Your last conviction was what? A.—For holding up the mail truck in New York City.

Q.—Who was with you in the hold-up? A.—Anderson and another man, Loeber.

Q.—So you and Anderson—Anderson is the man you have spoken of a few minutes ago who was with you when you came to see Shean? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you have a gun at the hold-up? A.—No, I did not.

Alcorn then continued his questions about the mail robbery and disagreed with Chapman's version of it.

"I don't want to argue this matter with you," Chapman said, looking straight into Alcorn's eyes. "I don't wish to go into the case at all. It has nothing to do with this charge of murder."

Groehl then took the witness again and brought a slight smile from him by asking if he had ever before been charged with murder.

"Only in the newspapers," "It was a pastime, I think, for the papers to accuse me of a murder every few days."

He went on to explain that he fired a shot at a Muncie policeman at the time of his arrest because he thought him a hold-up man.

"He poked a gun under my heart without saying anything. I fired to save $4,700 I had on my person."

FRENCH SENATE IN UPROAR ON FINANCE CRISIS

mercy was crippled by the shortage of paper currency. He insisted that the new money desired would only be used for commerce. Before the war, he explained, 11,500,000,000 paper francs were in circulation and at the present time there are 40,500,000,000 although the exchange rate is one-fourth that of before the war.

"Divide by four," he went on, "and besides you must figure the ordinary needs which were increased by the annexation of new territories."

Whole Cabinet May Go.

There is considerable talk this morning of M. Herriot's cabinet resigning. Reliable political observers foresee a new ministry headed by Paul Painlevé which will include Aristide Briand, former premier, as minister of foreign affairs, and Joseph Caillaux, finance minister.

Plans Financial Mission, Report.

(Copyright: 1925: By the New York Times.) LONDON, April 2.—The London Times' Paris correspondent understands the French government is preparing to send a new financial mission to the United States to discuss the French debt to that country with the treasury department in Washington.

U. S. May Ask Payment.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—Mention of the French war debt to the United States in the French chamber of deputies today by Finance Minister Clementel synchronized with the disclosure here of increasing dissatisfaction in influential congressional circles with the continued delay on the part of the debtor nations in instituting definite understanding regarding refunding negotiations with the Washington government.

The feeling of impatience is understood to have manifested itself recently through increasing pressure on the administration to take active steps to bring matters to a head. In the view of some leaders who have been in contact with administration officials it would cause no surprise if the debt situation and the desirability of beginning conversations for refunding agreements were made the subject of notes dispatched to all governments which have not as yet taken up this question, including France.

ANOTHER STORM VICEM DIES.

HOUSE OF LORDS URGED TO OUST
LAZY MEMBERS

Birkenhead Offers Plan for Wide Reforms.

BY JOHN STEELE

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, April 2.—A bold scheme to reform the historic house of lords was unexpectedly outlined tonight by Lord Birkenhead in the house of lords.

The second chamber is to be limited to 200 members, of whom approximately 100 would be men who had held high national, naval, or military positions in the past. The others are to be taken from members of the house. Labor representation would be secured by the nomination of the prime minister of lords of parliament, not of hereditary rank. There would be no alteration in the main purpose or in the work of the parliament act.

Certification of money bills would be by a joint body of six from each house presented over by the prime minister. The ministers would be at liberty to submit the higher house. There would be joint sessions of both houses on serious differences.

Would Oust Lazy Peers.
Lord Birkenhead based his plea for a numerical reduction partly because of the fact that so many of the peers made no use of their parliamentary duties. He said it would be an enormous advantage for the house to have characteristic representation of the trade union movement in the house.

If there was no other reason for reform, he said, the house of lords should have in its membership members of the socialist party on whom the house could rely for authoritative counsel and who would provide some measure of support. Lord Birkenhead doubted whether it would be wise to interfere with the main purpose of the act, although he deplored the measure, but he said there must be a provision against any alteration of the act or any attempt to deprive the house of the vestige of liberty remaining to it.

Hope to Regain Dignity.
Drawing a picture of the immense difficulties and intricacies of the problem of reform, the Marquis of Lansdown said some means might yet be found to provide the second chamber with an opportunity to take a dignified place in the conduct of the public affairs of the country.

Many of the lords took part in the debate on Lord Birkenhead's proposal. Lord Buckmaster, former chancellor, declared the scheme was the only one which seemed to rid the second chamber of the reproach of "absenteeism" while retaining the essence of the tradition which it enjoyed at present. He said that any reforming measure ought to give its members in their own right the opportunity to sit in the second chamber, with lords themselves ought to have the power to sit in the house of commons.

USE EMERY DUST TO DISABLE U. S. NAVY OIL CARRIER

San Pedro, Cal., April 2.—Emery dust, piled in the main bearings of the U. S. S. Cuyama, an oil carrier attached to the battle fleet here, disabled the vessel and damaged her engines to the extent of $70,000, it was revealed today, when police fingerprint experts were called upon to help solve the case.

Suspicion was first directed at civilian visitors to the ship, but naval authorities announced that later information indicated that the damage had been caused by a disgruntled member of the crew.

There leaves for the ship's crew were canceled and all available engineers were put to work in an effort to complete repairs in time for the ship to leave with the rest of the fleet when it sails for San Francisco at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

VOTE "YES" TWICE ON THE TRACTION BALLOT.

On the opposite page is printed a sample of the Dover plan ordinance to be voted on in Tuesday's election. It is marked as the voter should mark who wants the plan adopted and the city transportation operated under it. To get this result the voter must mark the "Yes" in the square opposite each proposition. He must vote twice.
He is asked whether he wants to approve the ordinance of Feb. 27, 1925. He also is asked whether he wants the local transportation system operated through the municipal railway board provided for in the ordinance.
Two affirmatives are needed to make the plan work. One vote might adopt the ordinance, but failure of the second proposal to carry would throw out the method of operation. The question is divided. It takes two votes.
The ordinance provided by the ordinance is by a board beginning with nine members. There would be three groups. One would be composed of three members appointed by the mayor, the second of three members appointed by the security holders, and the third of three members chosen by the security holders from a list of nine submitted by the mayor.

Later when 61 per cent of the present securities have been retired the board would be composed of seven members, four appointed by the mayor and three by the security holders. When the city has a majority on the board the operation will be municipal operation with private interest as a junior.
Until then the city will be the junior in the partnership, although the provision by which the mayor nominates the neutral members may produce a balance of power from the beginning.
People who are for the plan and want it to succeed will vote "Yes" twice. That will adopt the plan and make it work.

THE GALLANTRY OF PROHIBITION.

Geraldine Farrar, a distinguished artist who has made a contribution to American culture, was crossing from Canada into the United States to sing at Rutland, Vt. She was traveling at night in a private car. At the border four agents of the United States government boarded the car and confiscated a few dozen bottles of champagne. Some were in the plans.
Miss Farrar violated the law, but she is no
bootlegger. She wanted the liquor for herself.
She wanted to wet her whistle before she sang, and after. Songbirds do. At the moment four agents were noisily doing her car professional bootleggers were running Scotch into the country at every border. Quantities of moonshine were being manufactured and sold in every state, with the connivance of corrupted public officials. Bribery and forgery were being employed to obtain liquor
by the carload from government warehouses.
In the face of this flouting of the constitution for the profit involved, the four stern upholders of the law took action. We fancy them, steady eyed, with pistols drawn, leaping aboard Miss Farrar's car as it stood in the railroad station. It was a courageous deed, and it had scarcely been added, will go far to discourage the commercial traffic in liquor. The capture of a professional bootlegger runner could have had no such salutary effect.
Miss Farrar had a dry whistle at Rutland, but when she gets to New York she will be all right.
She may even buy her own stuff back again.
Stanger things have happened.

THE GERMAN BUILDING.

We recent the account by our colleague, Mrs.
Herrick, of the destruction of the German building in Jackson park. Mrs. Herrick seems to feel the building wasn't much as buildings go. She says it occupied "a prominent and imperious place" at the World's Fair, but "of late has been a more or less tumbled down relic with a popcorn stand at the door." She thinks some people who live near Jackson park looked upon "the mass of disappointed Teutonic architecture" as "something of an eyesore." "It combined several types of German architecture," she adds severely a little further on.
We may be reading the thought into her words, but we detect a note of scorn. She might have been writing of a fire in an abandoned beer garden. We think the German building was a characteristic structure, one of six or eight buildings in Chicago worth looking at. Its main tower was well proportioned and rose gracefully from the building.
We don't know what were the several types of German architecture to which Mrs. Herrick referred, but we do know they blended. The German building might have suggested a beer garden to some, but we venture to say it is the only setting of the sort which retained its charm without the beer. The building was visible from all sides and it was interesting from all of them. We had forgotten Mrs. Herrick's point of view, but we remember how romantically the mellow walls rose from the sloping of the willow grove, the knoll, the gaze, or the lagoon.
Mrs. Herrick is still young and under our tutelage will acquire wisdom, which is more than can be said of the members of the south park board.
The blame for the destruction of the building is shared. The board is forever flailing blind horses.

and spending tax money for this and that object;
here it had charm of a high order tendered to it as a gift and carefully permitted the gift to vanish. We hesitate to recommend restoring the building to such a board. The members might wish to improve the design by adding another tower.

FITTING MICHAEL ARLEN WITH A HAT.

Michael Arlen is now in this country. Nearly all writers successful in London come to America sooner or later in person. That is like taking a check to the bank. Arlen is to have his play, "The Green Hat," from his book of that name, produced in Chicago week after next by Al Woods.
In two modern instances contemporary opinion has greatly admired the English of two men to whom English was not the mother tongue. One was Joseph Conrad, who recently died. He was an inland continental European, a Pole, who became a master mariner and a master artist of the English language. The sea stimulated his creative talent. He might have chosen French for his expression and commentators have wondered that he did not, but he chose English and was one of the great modern users of the language.
His spiritual being was full of the mystery, poetry, and power of the sea, and when he wrote it was mostly of man and the elements, of their conflict, of the mysteries of elemental force, and of the mysteries of spiritual man. His people are motivated by courage, cowardice, will, and qualities of the soul and mind. There are some women in his pages, but his greatest drama is not in their relation to men, but in man's relation to the typhoon, to an African jungle river, to an overpowering element or a soul terror.

Possibly Conrad felt that drama is largely asexual would fit in the tradition of a language so generally repressed or even obscurantist in sex as the English better than in the French, which might not understand so much detachment from the influence of sex on life.
To avoid protest against coupling of Conrad and Arlen in any discussion of English literature it may be explained that it is done only because both were native to another tongue than English. Both were for a time contemporary and both are admired by different but large schools of readers for the mastery in Conrad's case and the facility in Arlen's in an acquired tongue.

Mr. Arlen is not interested in the sea. He is not interested in the spiritual dilemmas or struggles of men. He has only one interest. That is sexual appetite in irregularity. Without the seventh commandment life would be outside his comprehension and his people would not only bore themselves to death, but they would fail to interest his readers at all.

His admirers, when they open a new book of his,
know what to expect. The little duchess will use the first opportunity and the nearest place to prove that things are different from the home life of the dear queen.

Many writers have conceded to reality that adultery is a consequence of some of the passions of human beings, but Mr. Arlen concedes that no human being has any other motive at any time.
His readers are pleased with the cleverness with which he perceives this reality of modern society and the cleverness with which he commends it.
It reminds us of the Stokes trial. Mr. Arlen's inclosure of life is that of the el-dorado Everleigh club, the home of ladies of leisure and of gentlemen on whom fortune smiled. Two of his austere characters could have been no other in the flesh than the now circumspect and secluded Everleigh sisters. In Mr. Arlen's Everleigh club annals he will be found, in person, at the piano making the interior decorous with the felicity of his style.
It is not usual in English to find a writer with one motivation and one theme, that the resulting of the seventh commandment. It does not reflect the traditions of English literature, nor, do we think, the ideals of most people either here or in England. It seems strange that we should have this phenomenon, but then we reflect and recall.
Mr. Arlen is an Armenian.

THE OTHER SIDE

CAN'T UNDERSTAND! OR WORSE.
(The New Orleans Times-Picayune.)
The relatively small vote polled by Democratic "solid" southern states in the national elections continues to mystify some of our southern countrymen, though it has been explained repeatedly. Thus we find the Minneapolis Tribune presenting the vote cast for the presidential tickets last November as seven southern states, and commenting as follows:
"The city of Minneapolis cast more votes for the presidency last November than any of these southern states save Georgia. . . . Many of the whites (in these southern states) obviously looked upon voting as a superfluous affair in their lives."
This newspaper repeatedly has urged southern voters to turn out at the general elections, if for no other reason than to disarm sectional criticisms of the kind just quoted. But our northern friends know of their own experience how difficult it is to bring voters to the polls in an unexcited election. If Minneapolis were to hold an election for mayor, with only one candidate in the race or the election of one candidate assured past any possibility of doubt, how many of her voting citizens would trouble to go to the polls?

That is the situation existing in the seven southern states named by our Minneapolis contemporary, with respect to the national elections. Their voters do not turn out in any considerable number because the election result in those states is secure. There is no formidable opposition party in any of them. No important issue of a Democratic upset. So that voters do not feel the voters of any other state.
Minnesota included—would do under like circumstances.
That there is normally greater political interest, less voting apathy, in the south than in other sections can be demonstrated, we think, by a survey of the Democratic primary election campaigns and elections in the southern states. In these party primaries are fought out the contests over men and measures that the two-party states fight out in the general elections.
And in the southern primaries involving exciting or important issues, a larger percentage of the total eligible vote is habitually cast than Minnesota, for example, polled in the exciting and important senatorial contest between Magnus Johnson and Gov.
Frost, in 1922.
Voting apathy is not to be gauged by the test of the vote polled in utterly one-sided elections, whose result is an acknowledged certainty, but rather by the vote cast in actively contested elections where issues of moment and popular interest are posed. In the two-party states, the fight is waged in the general elections. In the slightly Democratic south they are waged in the party primaries. If the comparison are adjusted to this true basis, we think it will be found that a larger proportion of the eligible vote participated in the elective decisions in the average southern state than in the average northern state.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS.

W. HENRY D. NORMAN, bridge builder, who died of tuberculosis, was treated what he at first regarded as a bad cold. At a short while he concluded that he would rest from his practice for a few days in order to get over his cold. His patients then sick were cared for by various physicians. Dr. J. B. Herrick, then a young physician, called one day to report the progress of two of these patients. Dr.
Bridges greeted him cheerfully and told him to sit down. After the business of the visit was over Dr. Bridges asked Dr. Herrick if he would like to see some tubercular bacilli. A slide of sputum, rich with tubercular bacilli, was shown under the microscope. When Dr. Herrick asked how the slide had been prepared, Dr.
Bridges went to a shelf and took down
Van Jaich Clinical Diagnosis. This wonderful book, for its day, had been recently translated, and the two physicians spent a pleasant half hour going through and discussing it.

Two days later Dr. Herrick again called to report on the sick in his care.
Dr. Bridges, smiling and apparently happy, told Dr. Herrick to continue careful for these patients. Dr. Bridges, with any and every one else, was under the impression that he was going away for a long stay and might never come back.
The sputum they had examined was from Dr. Bridges and his apparently simple cold was consumption.

Dr. Bridges lived more than forty years thereafter. Some twenty years ago I remember being in El Paso and hearing a discussion of the disease. It was a commonly got entirely well and tubercular bacilli were found in the sputum. All agreed that the disease was fairly well advanced before this sign became positive and most of the speakers thought thereafter complete cure was impossible.

The last forty of Dr. Bridges' more than eighty years of life were full and happy. He was a man of a cheerful much of the time and he did it well. He was naturally good for sickness. He liked to be around sick people and sick people liked to have him around. People did not make him a doctor. That was because he radiated friendliness, hope, and cheer. He was as calm, cheerful, and friendly about other people's sickness as he was when he saw his own. He wrote books on medicine, philosophy, climate, and other subjects, and they are worth reading.
He made a large fortune as an officer war by Germany will receive corre-

this Sir Edward Grey replied that the tonly killing non-combatants, they can-

Yet since my heart is hid, its sweetest glee
Has leapt into my face to live and shine

REIL: Oh Man! I had to buy four copies of last Sunday's Trib before I got 'em all to suit me. I've got a new treasure now! An illustrated copy of The Line Book! On the inside cover, right under the "Cheerio! Richard Henry Lille" is pasted himself; on page 5 is Gordon Seagrave's pleasant countenance; page 13 is ornamented with the lovely face of Peter Pan, followed on page 21 by Helen Fennam looking more in accord than in anger at Mr. Cabell; "Short Stories" on page 26 is now supplemented by that handsome, cynical devil, Snowshoe Al; while further on you'll find the sweet Irish face of Bitterroot Bill; then Met-O'D, the slim, dark drummer of the Line, the Greek (on page 38, in a well made business suit and glasses); Le Mousquetaire (darn it, I didn't catch the name of him), and last, but not at all least, Goddwin, every inch the poet, stands looking down at his own "Bed of Poppies."
And now if you'd only give Abner the rubber Pete, and D. Dow, I'd be satisfied. I'm pretty well pleased with myself as it is. ANGELINA ANGEL.

"DO LEGS indicate brains?" Dr. Sheldon out at the University of Chicago is wrestling with this question. It's hard to decide this important matter so far as the modern girl is concerned because she always keeps her brains covered up.

Now, Is That Nice?
R. H. L.: Marime? Well, I've seen lots of those lads embracing stanchions in smack after when the anchor chain rattled. They made darn good messenger boys and buglers, too. Yep—I know Cape Henry—Cape Charles—Baltimore Split-Tail o' Shoe Light, and all those, but I've seen Trinidad, the Azores, Land's End, Ouisant, and points east, too. Never fell out of my hand-muck yet, except once—I saw a marine working Salty.

DANDELIONS are in bloom on the front lawn.
We haven't seen any, but then, we haven't any front lawn. The robin, and brains are in the parks. We don't know about that because we never have time to go to the parks. But Bill Lewis sent us three great big front cucumbers from Sireter yesterday and we ate 'em last night.

little oswald opened his mouth, the dam fool.

ILLINOIS RADIO SAFE FROM LAW STATIC—SENATE

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., April 2.—(Special.)—Radio has received double assurance today that the state of Illinois has not and never had any thought of interfering with their broadcasts or forcing them to throw their batteries into the sea and return to crystal sets.

Members of the state senate have been more amused than irritated by broadcast alarms that the speed bill for inspection of electrical wiring and licensing of electricians would hit licensees, but the opportunity to show that the fear probably was a hogshoo raised by opponents of the bill did not come until it reached second reading.

But offers amendments. Then, with the approval of Senator William J. Speed, Senator Richard J. Barr presented an amendment which exempted "radio apparatus for reception of sounds and signals" from the operations.

And the second and hardly less favorable assurance came during the committee's hearing on the bill. The measure concerns wiring for transmission of "heat, light, or power," and, in answer to questions, Leon Hornsby, first assistant corporation counsel of Chicago, said unqualifiedly that this language could not be construed as including radio receivers.

"No more than it would include electric door bells," he said. "The only possible word that might apply to the radio receiver is the word 'power' and the general conception of the meaning of that term, the one that would be adopted by the courts, is power for industrial purposes."

But to be entirely safe and relieve the fears of the fans, Senator Barr included the exemption clause in his amendment. The two police bills, the Dunlap "state police" plan and the Barr "state highway police" bill were reported in by committee as rival measures. The fact that the Dunlap bill was reported without recommendation led Lieut. Gov. Sterling, as president of the senate, to raise the question whether it would go on the calendar.

By unanimous consent it was placed there, in order that its merits might be threshed out before the whole senate. Lieut. Gov. Sterling indicated a belief, however, that hereafter bills reported in this manner should be considered as on the table, whence they can be removed only by the vote of the majority of those present. He referred this question to the rules committee.

Silent Night Wanderlust Seizes Elmer

Tunes In Detroit Choir
and U. of P. Players.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS—
A considerable portion of the evening was spent listening to the University of Pennsylvania Mask and Wig club annual frolic from KDKA, Pittsburgh, 7:30 to 11:15—partly because it was a tumultuous affair and much as many things were doing.

They were as noisy as a madhouse when discovered at 7:30. The music was a madhouse in itself, then a male chorus chimed in, followed by what sounded like a women's chorus, and altogether leading into a light opera finale. Terrific applause from a large audience broke in. Later a versatile clown had the audience screaming with delight.

A typical Monday silent night wanderlust had the best of this listener by this time. At 8, deliberately to WCX, Detroit, to hear what the choir of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Flint, Mich., was doing for the world. . . . Wow! Listen to that!

Back to KDKA, hearing the announcement that the Mask and Wig club play this year is entitled "Joan of Arkansas." George McClelland, professor of English, was introduced, stating that the club's play had so far been presented in Cleveland, Chicago, and Detroit, and the company was now on its way east; that it was interesting to note that in the different cities different selections received unequal applause.

He added that the "girls" in the play really make up quite beautifully, but they have a strange sort of mannish voices; that the University of Pennsylvania was established 125 years ago, and that the Mask and Wig club with its thirty-seven years of history has been steadily developing in importance.

A disappointment. Try as I could, I could not cut through WMAQ on 445 meters and pick up Marie Ivogun's recital from WJZ, New York, on 455 meters.

Hopes ran high for a few moments at 9:30 when a remarkable coloratura soprano voice, accompanied by an orchestra, was heard at or near the WLW, Cincinnati, dial marking. It was an operatic aria, familiar "Waltz" song from "Romeo and Juliet," and how those notes flew and flashed! But, O my! it was a there's our "a" again, "R. H. L." vs. Richard Henry Little.

Miss Helen Doyle or Doyle. Deafening applause broke in at the close of the selection. It was a concert being given by the Cincinnati School of Music. Good for this vocalist, good for Cincinnati, and the same for WLW.

What about Chicago programs? What's the expression recently used referring to me by our Richard Henry Little? O yes.

Chicago? Never heard of it.

TOO MUCH LIQUOR
SLEEPS IN, WOMAN
ENFORCER SAYSMrs. Willebrandt Attacks
Prohibition Unit.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., April 2.—[Special.]—Declaring that the results now being obtained in fighting the smuggling of liquor on the Atlantic coast were distinctly unsatisfactory, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of enforcing the dry law, told the House committee today that the liquor regulations along the seaboard should be immediately tightened up.

"Too much liquor," she said, "is coming into this country from rum row. There should be some way to stop it." Wants to Study Situation.

Pressed for details as to just how she would go about tightening up the regulations, she said she would want to make a thorough study of conditions from the prohibition angle as well as to her own office before making her answer.

Mrs. Willebrandt's testimony before the committee was one of a number of developments in the prohibition situation during the day. Among these was the issuance of regulations by the treasury department to customs and prohibition officers placing in effect provisions of the new law which allows the use of forfeited vessels and vehicles by enforcement officers.

Attacks on the prohibition unit by Mrs. Willebrandt and replies by Wayne B. Wheeler, federal counsel for the Anti-Saloon league and James J. Britt, counsel for the dry unit.

Of interest to Chicago was the statement by Mr. Wheeler that Chicago was much drier than the east and that the reason where the law was being violated was the most lay along the Atlantic seaboard. In Chicago Mr. Wheeler had much praise for the judges, but said little about the prohibition unit.

In her attack Mrs. Willebrandt sharply criticized this unit because it forwarded to seven district attorneys evidence against the Fischmann company instead of sending this information to the department of justice, where it could have been concentrated.

Defends Hayes' Agents.

Mrs. Willebrandt said the prohibition unit never informed her of this case of Mr. Britt appearing before the House committee, took up his defense of the prohibition unit early in the afternoon, when he argued that the dry laws made no distinction in violation of the cases should be handled.

Senator Cullen broke in to say that greater results would be obtained by dry agents if "this limited force of 700 men of was confined to at least endeavoring to get the sources of supply and the concealed big offenders."

The committee was told that because of divided control in enforcement through industrial alcohol was smuggled annually to make 240,000, 40 half pints of 40 per cent liquor.

DIVORCEE GETS BAIL AS FRAUD CHARGES GROW

Mrs. Chambers Accused by Five Persons.

With complainants multiplying and flooding about her, Mrs. Jessie Chambers, comely divorcee, nervously paced the detective bureau last night while friends and her counsel, W. W. Witty, found a bondsman to free her on five formal charges of confidence game and conspiracy to defraud.

Creditors and alleged victims of worthless checks began arriving to view Mrs. Chambers and interview Detective Sergeants Seyferlich and Horwitz shortly after Mrs. Chambers was arrested on Wednesday night, while dining with Robert Barnes, a realty broker, 127 North Dearborn street. The original charge was preferred by Ray Noonan, Paris, Ill., auto dealer, who says Mrs. Chambers gave him a worthless check for $1,500 in payment for a car.

Blames Her Daughter.
"It's all a horrible mistake," Mrs. Chambers cried, dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief. "If a check was passed my young daughter, Daisy May, who eloped from a finishing school in the east, must have done it—not I."

But as the day wore on and further charges developed, Mrs. Chambers admitted that perhaps she had given out "a few" checks that she later failed to make good. Chicago complainants so far are a loop department store, a loop shoe store, an exclusive Michigan avenue modiste, and two proprietors of exclusive shops. The total amount involved is said to reach into the thousands.

Depreciation in the value of mid-continent oil fields I control is the cause of it all," declared Mrs. Chambers, who, as Jessie Calder, was reared at Uppan.

Caught in Oil Crash.
"You see, I was living on too high a scale, and when the oil crash came it caught me in a bad fix. But I own enough oil leases to clear all these petty bills."

Several of the large hotels are said to hold claims against Mrs. Chambers, but none of these has as yet been pushed. Police were investigating reports of other possible claimants in New York, St. Louis, and Wichita Falls, Tex.

Her son, John, 13 years old, was with Mrs. Chambers at the time of her arrest.

275 FINED $5 EACH FOR PART IN STAG SMOKER

The 275 men and boys who attended a stag smoker given by the Order of Owls Wednesday night at 637 West Madison street paid for their evening's entertainment with $5 fines each, a night in jail, and a day spent standing in the confined space of Judge Immenhausen's court and about the corridors of the city hall.

Late in the afternoon almost all of the 275 pleaded guilty and paid their fines to a special clerk. Many frantic wives were in the corridor to greet their husbands. The judge's phone was busy all day, wives calling to see if their missing husbands were among those locked up for watching five linked women dance.

The manager of the "smoker," Emil Paul, and the five women arrested for their conduct at the affair were granted jury trials. Every one else was allowed to pay his fine and go home.

20,000 BABIES TO BE ENTERED IN PRIZE TESTS

More than 20,000 babies are expected to take part in the first national baby congress sponsored by the Illinois State Medical society, which will be held May 2 to 5 at the American Exposition palace, 665 Lake Shore drive.

Chicago's foremost physicians are to conduct the examination and scoring of the entrants. The babies will be examined in the glass enclosed "baby house" which will be the center of show. Examinations are also to be conducted at each of the twenty-three infant welfare stations of the Chicago health department by 160 nurses under the supervision of Dr. Herman N. Burdensen.

Prizes are to be offered for the baby and the boy or girl of school age scoring highest in health and formation.

GIRL KILLS MAN; CHARGES ATTACK.

Papoose City, Okla., April 2.—Guy Wilson of Okemah was shot and killed early today near Ryan City, in the Papoose oil field by Mildred Nola. The girl said he had attempted to attack her.

FARM SITUATION REPORTED BEST IN FIVE YEARS

Washington, D. C., April 2.—This is the "first spring in five years with any evidence of general stimulus in agriculture," the bureau of agricultural economics declared today in a report on the situation.

There are no big agricultural surpluses except in cattle, the report said, and "judging from the lessened population movement, an increased number of farmers apparently feel it financially safe to stay on the farms this spring."

"Returning strength in livestock prices is the most impressive of all the general signs," the report continued. "Over the country as a whole, reports indicate that farmers have not gone into action so hopefully in five years."

Reviewing its recent intentions-to-plant report, which indicated that farmers contemplated increased acreages of important crops, the bureau repeated its warning that, "it seems doubtful if the general expansion of production contemplated by farmers would be to their best interests."

INSANE PATIENT DIES; INQUEST TODAY.

An inquest will be held today into the death of Magnus Sell, 62 years old, of 1838 Sheffield avenue, who died in the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane, where he was a patient.

British Begin Tests for Airship Service to India

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, April 2.—For the first time in four years the R-43, huge British airship, took the air at 5:30 this morning at Cardington, where it has been reconconditioning for several months. Scores of girls who were employed on the ship helped to ease her out of the shed. The flight to Pulham, Norfolk, was uneventful and the ship was moored to a mast there for a series of experiments in connection with new ships now building for the empire air route to India and Australia.

RAIN BREACHES PRAIRIE FIRE REGION.

Norfolk, Neb., April 2.—(Special.)—A general rain falling over northern Nebraska and southern South Dakota today. This brings relief to prairie fire districts and will benefit farm lands.

PRIEST CHARGED WITH BRIBERY GIVES $1,500 BAIL

Washington, D. C., April 2.—Father Thomas P. Hayden, former chaplain of the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, indicted jointly with former Deputy Warden Looney J. Fletcher, in the prison scandal, gave $1,500 bail here today for his appearance in Atlanta for trial.

Father Hayden came here several days ago and a copy of the indictment was forwarded here. A warrant for the arrest of the priest was issued by United States Commissioner Turnage but its service was unnecessary. Father Hayden and Fletcher are accused of having conspired to receive bribes from prisoners to influence Fletcher's action in his capacity as deputy warden.

WE TOOK BRIBE; WHO WOULDN'T? DRY AGENTS ASK

Want Leniency; Couldn't
Turn $4,000 Down.

Thomas E. Jones and John A. Holm, former prohibition agents, who yesterday confessed to Federal Judge John C. Cliffe that they had accepted bribes of $2,000 each, will appear in court again tomorrow morning. Then their attorneys will try to convince the judge that the former dry sleuths aren't so bad on the ground that $2,000 is a lot of money for anybody to turn down.

Judge Cold on the Idea.
This will be a new mitigation slant on loose shakedown cases, court officials said. The judge seemed a little doubtful on the idea. It was pointed out that the lawyers they might come to with character witnesses and arguments to show why it was so hard for Jones and Holm to put Satan behind them.

In testimony prior to his confession Jones said he had been accustomed to average bribes of $25 and $50, and consequently was completely bowled over when Abe Landoff, an extract man, offered him $2,000 for forgetting about finding the pair loading a truck with five gallons of alcohol back in 1922.

Charges Arrose Vursell.
Statements of the two agents that they had been a common practice to fix cases at prohibition enforcement headquarters for a few hundred dollars brought forth spirited comment from Chief Enforcement Officer Charles W. Vursell.

Chief Vursell said he considered it the duty of every citizen to be specific in all charges that agents accept bribes, and promised full cooperation in the prosecution of any one in his department against whom concrete shakedown evidence is offered.

Jones and Holm never worked in the prohibition office under his régime, Mr. Vursell said.

PACIFIC MAIL FIGHTS SALE OF SHIPS TO RIVAL

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(Special.)—The Pacific Mail Steamship company will act tomorrow in an effort to prevent consummation of the sale of the five "President" type combination cargo-passenger ships to R. Stanley Dollar and associates.

Just what form the action of the Pacific Mail will take could not be learned tonight, but it was known that a decision had been reached, as the result of two days of conferences by Gale Carter, president of the Pacific Mail, with George E. Chamberlain, former United States senator from Oregon and later a member of the shipping board, counsel for the Pacific Mail, and others called into consultation.

May Go to Court.

Court action may be resorted to by the Pacific Mail to block the sale. Determination of the majority of the shipping board to put through the sale of the vessels to Dollar, notwithstanding the position taken by the minority of the board and the Pacific Mail, was emphasized today when Commissioner E. C. Plummer, vice chairman of the board, offered a motion that the board should request the attorney general of the United States to give the board an opinion as to legality of the board's action under the merchant marine act of 1920.

Stand by Own Counsel.

The motion was rejected by a vote of 4 to 2. Members opposing the motion de-

URGES POLITICS AS CAREER FOR SERIOUS GIRLS

If it isn't altogether convenient for the serious minded young college woman to rush off to the foreign mission-ary field and try to convert cannibals let her stick close to the polling booths in her own precinct and take an active interest in politics, Mrs. Maude Wood Park of Boston, a director of the National League of Women Voters, yesterday suggested at a mass meeting of University of Chicago co-eds at Mandel hall.

Both enterprises, Mrs. Park pointed out, give the serious minded college graduate her twofold opportunity for service and "experience."

No woman, Mrs. Park maintains, should forsake politics entirely for home interests. She will be deep, but she'll be narrow. On the other hand, no woman should desert the home for politics. Then she'll be broad, but shallow.

clared that there was no occasion for asking the attorney general for an opinion. They said that the general counsel and legal department of the board was competent to advise the board as to legality of its actions under the merchant marine act.

Preparation of the contract to be signed by the Dollar interests in connection with acquisition of the five ships was under way today.

Summer Time Begins in Great Britain on April 12

Arrested for Posing as Tornado Fund Collector

Roy Bechtold, who has been posing as a collector for the fund for tornado sufferers, was arrested last night by South Chicago police, after he had attempted to get a contribution from the Rev. John Keating of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, 95th street and Commercial avenue. Bechtold, who is said to have collected hundreds of dollars, has a long criminal record, according to the police.

Delay Shooting Inquest; Girl's Condition Serious

The inquest into the death of Mario Baldasseroni, 2215 West 24th place, who shot and killed himself Wednesday night after a bullet, said to have been intended for an enemy, struck and probably fatally wounded a ten-year-old girl, was continued yesterday, due to the seriousness of the girl's condition. The child is not expected to recover. Baldasseroni attempted to shoot Para Francesco. The bullet went wild and struck Anita, Cucconig, 2415 South Oakley avenue.

ANDREW ASKS LAW RETIRING TEACHERS AT 70

Plan Provides Annuity for Life of $1,500.

Supt. William McAndrew will ask the board of education to support a bill to be introduced into the state legislature providing for retirement of school teachers and members of the educational staff at the age of 70 with an annuity of $1,500 for the remainder of their lives. It was announced yesterday. At present there is no fixed age for retirement and the maximum pension is $800 a year.

In addition to the annuity provided in the bill those retiring will receive a pension from the regular fund, making it possible for a retired teacher to have an income of $2,300 a year after finishing his teaching career.

Over 70 Years of Age.
At present there are approximately 150 persons in the system more than 70 years old, and the bill calls for retirement of these in five years. Those 75 years of age will go the first year, to be followed by those 74 the second, and so on until in the fifth year persons 70 years of age will be retired. After the fifth year retirement will be at the age of 70.

While the plan represents an outlay of $1,500 a year for every teacher who is retired, the increase in expense, it was pointed out, will not be that great. As an example, a teacher retiring on the maximum salary of $3,000 will receive an annuity of $1,500. A new teacher taken into the system at $1,500 will mean that the first year the annuity does not represent any expense. As the new teacher automatically goes higher in the scale the cost of the annuity increases.

Miller to Introduce BILL.
Walter R. Miller, a teacher at the Lincoln High school and a representative in the state legislature, will be asked to introduce the bill.

Increases in classroom membership authorized some time ago have already made a noticeable decrease in salaries for teachers. The February pay roll, according to H. H. Brackett, auditor, is but one-tenth of the total appropriation for teachers' salaries. Normally the roll for that month are a much greater proportion, due to a new school semester. The saving is not enough, however, according to board officials, to support passage of Supt. McAndrew's plan.

New Papal Nuncio Reaches Mexico 'on Peace Mission'
Mexico City, April 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mr. Cinnamo, the new papal nuncio, arrived last night, declaring that he comes "on a mission of peace."

OPERATION FOR EMBOLISM STIRS FRENCH DOCTORS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, April 2.—What is hailed in the French press as the first operation on a human for embolism was performed successfully by Dr. P. More, the son of a famous Bordeaux doctor. Dr. More, who has already performed operations on dogs and guinea pigs, tied up the artery entering the arm of his patient, which was obstructed by two clots of blood. He opened the artery, removed the clots, sewed up the vessel, and removed a stricture which had resulted, the arm having been almost bloodless for several days. The arm soon assumed a normal aspect. Hope is held out by doctors of the faculty of medicine who witnessed the operation that surgery may also cure phlebitis.

7 REVENUE MEN ARE INDICTED AS BRIBE TAKERS

New York, April 2.—(Special.)—Seven deputy collectors of internal revenue, charged with soliciting and taking bribes ranging from $50 to $2,000 from citizens of Westchester and the Bronx, were indicted today by the federal grand jury.

United States Attorney Buckner said that the men, who, it is alleged, threatened innocent citizens with tax assessments and prosecution, will be tried immediately. The collectors are William Snowden, Saul L. Steinhilber, Albert O. Neilson, Henry Mayer, David Benjamin, Charles K. Tremont, and Charles H. Green. Arraigned today, Neilson and Green pleaded not guilty and were held in $2,000 bail.

PROVE CRIME OF GIRL MATRICIDE IN HER DEFENSE

Sanity Quiz Gives Trial Unusual Twist.

San Francisco, Cal., April 2.—The "Dance Macabre" with which 17-year-old Dorothy Ellingson whirled away the night after she had shot her mother, last Jan. 12, was detailed in Superior court here this afternoon by Katherine Mossman, testifying at the sanity hearing of the child matricide.

Miss Mossman told of the party that she and Dorothy Ellingson and other girls and young men attended. They danced far into the night, recalled the witness; there was whiskey and revelry. "Dorothy was gay," she added.

Watches Old Playmate.
The girl on trial watched narrowly her old playmate at jazz parties and occasionally whispered some comment to the jail matron. But throughout today's sessions, which included the testimony of her father and that of police as to the circumstances surrounding the death of her mother, the girl listened stolidly.

It was the first day since her trial started, March 23, that she got through without fainting. Several times she was agitated and the matron leaned over her with smelling salts, but for every reason she left the courtroom without assistance.

The defense today built up most of the preliminary testimony on which it will base questions to alienists expected to testify tomorrow. During the play the defense, using witnesses whom the prosecution had called for the interrupted murder trial, established a chain of circumstances indicating that the girl had killed her mother, as charged. Furthermore, her signed confession to the police was placed in evidence. Defense counsel explained to the court that this was part of the evidence of the defendant's insanity.

Detective Tells of Quiz.

Corporal of Detectives McDaniels described his interrogation of the girl when she was arrested, two days after her mother's death. He said they had talked for some time, and finally she burst out:

"I could shoot him."
He asked her whom she meant and she said: "Jimmy La Mare, a hop-head."

"He killed my mother," the detective quoted her as saying. He added that when he sent her to an address she named and they failed to find "Jimmy" she confessed that it was she who killed her mother.

"She said her mother scolded her because she had a 'date' for a party, and she got the pistol and fired one shot."

ELECTRICITY SOLVES CHORE PROBLEM ON FARM, FIRM SHOWS

Lake Geneva, Wis., April 2.—A saving of seventy-six hours a week on the average dairy farm in Wisconsin can be accomplished by use of electrical equipment, according to a report made here today by the stockholders of the Southern Wisconsin Electric company at their annual meeting.

These figures are based on experiences of a year on a farm leased by the company for demonstration purposes. According to the report, the farm is about the average for Wisconsin, of 160 acres, with the usual buildings. Electrification is complete, including the refrigerator plant and the milk cooler. Washing machines, ironing machines, vacuum cleaners and other household devices all are operated by electricity, at a saving to the farmer of approximately $28 per week, the report says.

The big jobs of the farm have not been attempted, but the chores have been largely eliminated, this report adds. Power is purchased from a power company.

F. G. BLAIR TALKS AT DEDICATION OF NEW SCHOOL

The John Milton Gregory public school, 3715 West Polk street, was dedicated last night. Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, made the principal address.

The school, erected at a cost of $650,000, is an example of modern construction. It has thirty classrooms with a capacity of 1,850 students. There are special rooms for kindergarten, household science, manual training, a gymnasium, and an assembly hall which seats 800.

The late John M. Gregory, for whom the school was named, was an early president of the University of Illinois. He died in 1898.

Hudspeth Fails to Appear for Trial; Arrest Ordered

PERU WANTS U. S. TROOPS AT VOTE ON TACNA-ARICA

Washington, D. C., April 2.—The expected Peruvian communication relating to the Tacna-Arica arbitration award by President Coolidge was delivered late today at the state department. No statement was forthcoming either at the department or the Peruvian embassy as to its contents.

From other sources it was learned that the communication makes several requests looking to greater protection and extension of the rights of Peruvian nationals to vote in the plebiscite which is to determine sovereignty of the two provinces under the award.

It is understood to be at least intimated that unless these additional safeguards are provided the Peruvian government would find it difficult, if not impossible, to participate in the plebiscite.

Native Police, Second Choice.
Among the steps the President is asked to take is replacement of Chilean military and police authorities in Tacna and Arica, preferably with American troops or marines. Should this action be undesirable, however, the way is left open for establishment of a native constabulary.

Another point taken up is the question of the right of Peruvians not now resident in the two territories to cast their ballots in the plebiscite. The Peruvian government contends that Peruvians who resided in the territory for five years and were subsequently expelled by the Chilean authorities should be granted the right to vote.

A third request deals with a stipulation which excludes from voting all persons found guilty of criminal offenses. Peru is understood to argue that a number of nationals, resident in the territories, have been convicted during the Chilean occupation on trumped-up criminal charges. Request is made that retrial under circumstances that will insure fair verdicts be granted.

Follows Diplomatic Custom.
The communication is said by those familiar with its text to be drawn in courteous language and with every recognition of diplomatic requirements and usages.

It is difficult to forecast what action the President will find it necessary to take. The arbitration protocol, signed by the two governments, was emphatic in saying that President Coolidge's award should be final and without appeal. The language of the award itself as well as its provisions indicate that it was drawn up with the view that it was final, since it contains no provision for reopening the case.

The suggestion that American troops be employed to maintain order in the two territories during the plebiscitary period is not likely to be well received at the White House.

How Doctors Now Say To Take Milk of Magnesia

A NEW and different form that multiplies the benefits, plus being a delight to take

MODERN science has discovered a new formula of magnesia—successor to milk of magnesia as you know it.

A scientific development that comes as a delight to those who find ordinary magnesia "hard to take."

That multiplies the already remarkable benefits of plain milk of magnesia.

That is made in an internationally honored laboratory and approved by high medical authority.

That leading physicians and hospitals now widely urge.

As part of a national movement in the interest of better health, a test is being offered free. Simply use the coupon.

What it is— multiplied new advantages

It is called Mintrated Cream of Magnesia.

A magnesia that embodies all the benefits of plain milk of magnesia, plus other important factors.

That not only neutralizes the excess stomach acids, but removes the gas that forms as well.

Thus in this one way alone doubling its power over old ways.

A mintrated product that is a delight to take. None of the flat after-taste of old-time preparations.

Stops stomach gas in 15 minutes

It relieves stomach gas in fifteen minutes—one place where plain magnesia failed.

It acts to correct the lack of "acid balance" in the stomach and bowels, conditions to which 80% of your common daily discomforts now are traced.

It relieves most trying cases of constipation.

It clears the intestinal tract of its poisons.

It combats the absorption into the blood of toxic poisons from the intestinal tract which keep people below normal and constantly ailing.

It is not habit forming, even when taken every day!

That is because of its unique composition. A method in safe contrast to habit-forming pills and drugs.

It relieves indigestion quickly—amazingly. And is a delight to take. That is due to its mintrated property. The property no milk of magnesia embodies.

The cool of mint

And this same property gives it the inviting coolness of mint. Thus it is a refreshing change from the flatness of plain magnesia.

Children love to take it. Every mother knows what this means.

A bottle free—obtain it

In justice to yourself and yours, make the test at our expense.

See for yourself the latest result of modern scientific research for healthier, better people.

CALLS FIRE BIG ENEMY IN FIGHT TO SAVE FORESTS

U. S. Chief Addresses Walton Convention.

There is the one great enemy of American forests and the foremost problem confronting the little army of conservation that is now fighting to replenish our $1,000,000 acres, from which the trees have been cut and burned away, members and delegates of the Isaac Walton League of America were told yesterday at the opening of their third annual convention at the Hotel La Salle.

The speaker was Col. W. B. Grealey, chief of the United States forestry service, and he pleaded once more with the sportsmen and lovers of forests and game and fish and the great outdoors to add still more of their time and energy to the fight against all the agencies which are destroying the forests they love.

Col. Grealey pointed out that there are four great factors to the problem that faces the country in the slow but steady devastation of its lumber.

Future Supply Big Problem. The first of these, he said, is the question of the future supply, and this, he added, is in complete jeopardy. "Two-thirds of our original lumber supply is gone," the forester chief told the Waltonians. "Two-thirds is gone and we are using up the remainder four times as fast as we are replenishing the supply. Forest fires have taken as much or more as the saw mills. Each year the fires alone devastate an area eight times the size of the territory torn to pieces by the world war."

Must Replant Vast Acres. The second approach to the problem is to get back into use the $1,000,000 acres that now stand idle through the fire and the sawmill. Taxes must be so fixed as to encourage the replanting of this land for the production of trees and control it. "Third comes the consideration of the forest as the breeding ground and the refuge of our wild life. We should make every effort to conserve and restore the wild life. It is one of our most valuable resources."

And then there is a social value in the forests. Every generation of Americans has been given physical strength and moral stamina from contact with the forest, and aside from making timber, the forests are the preservatives of the national health and character.

Girl Bandit Is Given Three Months' Sentence

I was out of work and I needed the money. This was the excuse offered by Marion Little, the girl bandit, who three months ago fired a shot at Mrs. Berline Giroux after robbing her delicatessen store at 4814 West Austin avenue. She obtained $10. "You cannot be punished," said Chief Justice Joseph Hopkins yesterday in passing sentence. "She was given three months in the house of correction."

MAYBE SOLOMON COULD ANSWER THIS; NOT JUDGE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Frances Claser propounded a problem to Judge George S. Lightner today that stumped him. Mrs. Claser had been arrested for keeping her 16 year old daughter, Malta, out of school.

"We have nine children, my husband and myself in the family, and my husband earns $30 a week. Will you tell me how we can live on that amount, unless some of the children work?" Mrs. Claser asked the court.

"That is your problem," replied Judge Lightner. "I'll admit I can't solve it."

Mrs. Claser had some difficulty in raising a $50 bond to keep from going to jail, where the court had threatened to send her with her baby.

CAPITOL CENTER OF BITTER FIGHT ON GAME REFUGE

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., April 2.—(Special.)—The Illinois legislature is feeding the flames of a sportsmen's war. The combatants are the Isaac Walton League and the Illinois Sportsmen Federation, and they are making the legislative halls and committee rooms their battleground.

Light was shed on the situation today when a resolution was presented in the house extending a welcome to the third annual convention of the Isaac Walton League, which opened in Chicago today, and giving blanket approval to the program of the league.

Resolution a Disputed Attack. Representative Thon (Rep., Chicago) offered the resolution, which eventually by was killed after it had been hastily adopted. It was understood that Mr. Thon was persuaded to present the resolution under the impression that he was giving the Isaac Walton League a boost, when in reality the resolution was inspired by the Sportsmen's Federation in open the way for an attack on the league.

The expected attack came, but from an unlikely quarter. It was made by Lee O'Neil Browne (Dem., LaSalle), an Isaac Walton member, who objected to such a sweeping endorsement of the league's past performance and future program, including the Thon bill ceding Illinois overflow land along the Mississippi to the federal government for the Upper Mississippi River Wild Life and Fish Refuge, favored by the late United States Senator Medill McCormick.

Revealed as Legislative Dictator. But the full significance of the whole situation was not brought out even during today's discussion. Considerable legislation is being dictated by the Sportsmen's association.

Today the federation had Mr. Thon present a bill creating a state sanitary water board to have supervision over all streams of the state to the extent of stopping pollution. The bill would give the board authority to issue orders to the Chicago sanitary district.

Thus far the federation's program has fitted in admirably with Gov. Small's plan to create new patronage and extend his power over his sanitary district foes.

LONG LEGS MEAN BRAINS? U. OF C. TO MAKE TESTS

A definite settlement of the question whether long legged men have a larger mental capacity than their short legged brethren is to be made at the University of Chicago. Within the next few days 400 students are to have the length of their legs compared with their scholastic standing.

Prof. William H. Sheldon, university psychologist, is inclined to favor the theory advanced by an eastern scientist some time ago that taller men have more brains. But the problem is expected to be settled beyond all argument when the results of the tests become known.

The students will also be graded on their social adaptability. The tests are expected to show whether or not the man of fine physique makes the best appearance socially.

ATTACKS LAW BY WHICH WIFE TRAPPED HIM

Edward C. Higgins, who in the Thompson regime drew $50 a day from the city as a legal expert, will devote his expensive talents in the future to the reform of certain of the domestic relationship laws, he announced yesterday.

Mr. Higgins was arrested Wednesday night with his youthful landlady, Mrs. Alice C. Dejmek, in the latter's apartment at 713 Waveland avenue. The complainant was Mrs. Higgins, who returned unannounced from California to raid the apartment. However, she failed to prosecute the charges, and Mr. Higgins and Mrs. Dejmek were released. The whole procedure irked Mr. Higgins.

"My wife's only purpose was to hurt me by publicity," he declared yesterday at the office occupied by him and Mrs. Dejmek at 11 South La Salle street. "The law is wrong, which permits a jealous wife to arrest her husband merely because he is a paying tenant of another woman. I'm going to see what I can do about it."

C. H. Perrigo, who has been connected with the City Board of Health for the past 25 years, endorses Dynell Water.

To the Public: For more than twenty years I suffered with kidney trouble and tried everything under the sun with scarcely any benefit. Finally I was led to try Dynell Spring Water and the results have been truly wonderful. My doctor says there is now no trace of albumen and I am feeling fine and in better health than at any time in years.

Since drinking this water I have met dozens of others who have recovered from all sorts of serious complaints, such as catarrh of the stomach, chronic constipation, high blood pressure, rheumatism, gall stones, etc., and it is my honest opinion that Dynell Water is the sure road to health. It is but a short drive to the spring, and anyone may go out there and drink all they want free. ## FRANCE QUIZZES GERMANY ON ITS FRONTIER PLANS

(Chicago Tribune Special News Service.)
PARIS, April 2.—An announcement from London that the security discussion with Berlin has been "temporarily suspended" was followed today by the submission by Quai d'Orsay of a questionnaire to Germany, copies of which were sent to London and Rome.

The questionnaire asks: "Is Germany disposed to execute the obligations necessary to membership in the league? What are Germany's intentions regarding its eastern frontiers? Why, in the case of Feb. 24, does Germany ignore those of Belgium, Italy, and Poland?"

Meets British Propaganda.
Offended by propaganda in Washington and London, insinuating lack of confidence in France for a disarmament conference due to its program of construction which will put French commerce at the mercy of French submarines, the foreign office today gave out figures to prove that the navy already is below the ratio allotted and would not be affected by limitations possible in a new accord.

The official senate report of budget expenditures, dated March 17, 1925, reveals that since 1914 the French navy has been increased by only one cruiser and that the present building program, extending until 1928, provides for an additional five light cruisers of less than 10,000 tons, six destroyers, eight torpedo boats, twenty-three submarines and one airplane carrier.

Even with this program completed the French navy in 1928 will be surpassed in every respect by Italy. Comparative statistics follow: Cruisers: France, 2; Italy, 12. Destroyers: France, 7; Italy, 5. Torpedo boats: France, 43; Italy, 56, and submarines: France, 43; Italy, 55.

Senator Dill, Washington, Radio Dinner Guest Tonight

Senator C. C. Dill of Washington will be the guest of the Radio Manufacturers' association at a dinner tonight in the Hotel Sherman. Senator Dill is father of the bill which, if passed, will make it possible for radio stations to broadcast copyrighted music, and he was instrumental in defeating the proposed 10 per cent luxury tax on radios and radio equipment. Officials of the B. L. A. and Chicago broadcasting stations have been invited to attend the dinner.

SEEKS RULING ON DATA SERVICES OF TRADE BODIES

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(Special.)—The legal status of trade association activities, particularly the statistical service rendered by them, will be taken up by Secretary of Commerce Hoover with Attorney General Sargent, the former stated today.

Describing the problem as personal, Secretary Hoover declared that he would stick to the job of clearing up the doubt surrounding the legality of compilation and dissemination of current statistical data by an organization in any industry.

He is hopeful that during the tenure of office of the new attorney general a straight case on statistics may be carried through the courts. All pending cases involve an alleged conspiracy to use the statistics for purposes of controlling production and prices. The stand taken by Secretary Hoover is that data on production, stocks, and prices may be misused, but that this does not render the statistical service itself illegal.

FIRES AT SLEUTH IN HOTEL LOBBY; GAINS FREEDOM

Ray Temple, alias Charles Tennesse, wanted on a charge of passing worthless checks, escaped from the police yesterday as he was being led from the Hayes hotel, University avenue and East 6th street. Sgt. Leo Carr of the detective bureau, with a warrant, entered his room in the hotel. Temple and a companion, William Lipton, were about to have breakfast. Carr told them they were wanted. They surrendered.

As the three were leaving the hotel, Temple jerked from Carr and dashed through the lobby. Carr fired several shots at him. Temple returned the fire. The chase led to an alley behind the hotel. There Temple pulled another gun and fired point blank at the detective. He then scrambled into a taxicab and escaped. Lipton and a woman, who gave her name as Mary Smith, Temple's sweetheart, were taken to the detective bureau.

VETERAN KNOCKS AT PALACE GATE; WINS AID OF KING

ROME, April 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Giovanni Pirolli, 51, mutilated war veteran, partly paralyzed, unable to speak perfectly, and in tatters, today approached the guard of the royal palace, saying, "I want to see King Victor Emmanuel for whom I fought and bled."

When informed of the man at the gates, the king sent for him, but in the presence of the monarch Pirolli was too nervous to stand. So the king asked the veteran to sit beside him while his story of misfortune was told.

"What can I do for you?" finally asked the king.

Pirolli, who had been evicted from his house, said his life dream was a cottage of his own. But it would cost 10,000 lire.

King Victor Emmanuel immediately ordered 20,000 lire given to the veteran, and as Pirolli departed the monarch took 500 lire from his pocket, saying, "Buy food with this."

MAY CORN DROPS BELOW DOLLAR; WHEAT OFF 5-6¢

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Breaking of the prolonged drought, which has prevailed in the southwest, combined with a decline of 5¢ in wheat at Liverpool resulted in scattered liquidation in American grain markets and wheat broke 5¢7½, corn 1/4¢ and oats 1/4¢ from the finish of the previous day with numerous stop loss orders uncovered on the way down. May corn sold down to 98¢ getting under $1 for the first time since Aug. 1, 1924, when it sold as low as 98¢. While there were numerous strong rallies the finish found wheat well toward the low point with net losses of 5¢7½. Corn was 1/4¢, lower. Oats declined 1/4¢ to 2 1/4¢, and rye 1/4¢ to 8¢.

While some parts of Kansas and Oklahoma received little rain, the former state as well as Nebraska has received sufficient moisture in some sections to improve greatly the outlook for the new crop, and the forecast suggested for the year.

May Wheat Leads Decline. May wheat showed more weakness than the July, and, while selling at 110 over the deferred delivery at one time, was down to 100 premium at the last. Despite the break, 110s have been heard regarding export demand and as a rule foreigners showed little interest in the market. The trade is looking for bullish statistics to be shown in Monday's statement, as Argentine clearances were estimated at only 2,500,000 bu. against 5,500,000 bu. last year, and a liberal decrease in the supply on ocean passage as well as in the domestic visible is anticipated.

Liquidation was on in corn, with free selling on spot lots orders on the way down. May went to around 4¢ under the July at one time, the widest difference so far. Cash houses were fair buyers of May and sellers of July. Sentiment generally was bearish, as the eastern demand failed to show further improvement. The rains in the southwest will be beneficial for the newly planted grain, and also for plowing, the latter having been delayed by dry weather.

New Low on Oats. May oats sold down to 35¢, while the July and September sold at a new low on the crop and the finish was about the bottom. Elevator interests bought May and sold July at 2¢ difference. Rains have benefited the crop in the southwest and west.

Foreign demand for rye fell off materially and no sales of consequence were reported at the seaboard. Support was lacking on the way down.

Break in grains more than offset the effect of an advance in hog prices at the yards, and the reduction in local stocks during the last month was somewhat less than expected. Lard closed 17 1/2¢ lower, with ribs 2 1/4¢ higher and bellies unchanged to 5¢ higher. Prices follow:
